Nature and Man
Not Blondes, Redheads
To Protect Air Mail

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 4—The sympathy of the United States goes out to Cuba and any assistance that may be needed will gladly be given. Nature strikes suddenly, unexpectedly, blindly, now in one corner of the earth, now in another.

Compared with man, nature is a poor killer. Her greatest acts of terror amount to little, compared with his.

As is usual in modern days, Cuba's earthquake shows no indication of a "special providence" interfering in earth's affairs, or any miraculous intervention to minimize evil.

The great cathedral of Santiago was ruined. A special providence could have protected that sacred building.

And worse, the roof of the maternity ward in the city hospital fell in, killing women and new babies. A special providence would have taken care of those poor mothers and new born children even before protecting the cathedral itself.

PHIL MAY'S PICTURE in London Punch shows a drunkard clinging to a lamp post, saying to his wife who begged him to come home: "I'll do anything in reason, Maria, but I WON'T come 'ome."

In reply to requests made by the league of nations, Japan replies that she will do anything in reason, but she will not take her troops and go home. She couldn't think of leaving her nationals to the mercy of the savage Chinese.

As western nations are sending fighting men, ships and planes to Shanghai to protect their nationals, Japan is once more following Europe's example.

Otherwise things requested by the league of nations, security for foreigners in China, etc., are exactly the things that Japan had in mind. In fact, she went to China to arrange them.

SOMETIMES MEN and nations making demonstrations mean them, sometimes they do not mean them. Italy, sending battleships and men to China, means every bit of it. Mussolini's married daughter is in China, with a small baby, and a husband in the Italian diplomatic service.

If anything happens to that mother or her child, which heaven forbid, Mussolini will make somebody feel sorry for it.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS sends all the way from New York news that "this year's American beauty is a perfect thirty-four, and a blonde with brown eyes." Such a beauty was selected from among 500 contestants.

The winning lady doubtless is an exception, but usually "blonde with brown eyes" is a brunette who has done something to make her hair yellow. Yellow hair goes naturally with blue eyes.

One expert, now here, known all around the world, Anita Loos, who wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," does not agree with the New York beauty experts. Last night she told Mary Pickford and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, "the red-headed woman is the thing now."

In fact, Miss Loos is writing a scenario about a red-headed lady for Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thal-

12 Die, 20 Missing as Tanker Explodes

TRAPPED IN INFERNO AS OIL BLAZES

Score Believed Burned to Death in Hold of Wrecked Vessel.

FOUR BLASTS ROCK SHIP

Men on Deck Jump into Water Covered with Burning Oil.

By The Associated Press

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Feb. 4—Twelve men are known to have been killed, a number are missing and a woman and four men were injured today when four explosions wrecked and set fire to the motor tankship Bidwell.

Approximately twenty men—the number could not be definitely determined—still were missing, believed victims of fiery death either in the wrecked craft or in the surrounding waters, which were sheeted with flaming oil within a moment after the first explosion.

Four Explosions

Four explosions, of sufficient force to shatter windows a mile from the scene, hurled flaming oil in all directions, and fired the wharf of the Sinclair Oil Co. at whose dock the Bidwell was tied.

Of the missing, six were reported to have perished while working near the midship hole, the tank which was the first to explode, but only one charred body was recovered from the twisted mass of iron and flames.

Eleven were known to be injured, including the captain's wife, Mrs. Viola Rivers of Jamaica, L. I. Mrs. Rivers and five of the workmen were in a dangerous condition. She had gone aboard but a few minutes before the blast.

Captain Rivers was missing.

Fire fighting apparatus and ambulances swarmed in from Wilmington, Del., Chester, Philadelphia and surrounding cities, but be

Chester R. Fallon alias Dan Fallon and Bob Hathaway, were sentenced to serve 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary on their plea of guilty to a charge of having aided in the holdup of the Farmers Deposit bank at Richwood on Oct. 23, 1931. Ten thousand dollars were obtained in the holdup. Fallon and Hathaway were brought to Marysville yesterday afternoon from Columbus in custody of Sheriff William Rausch of Union county, Deputy Sheriff Robert Ackerman, District U. S. Marshal Forbes Lampman and two deputy sheriffs from Franklin county.

They were arraigned before Judge F. LeRoy Allen of the Union county common pleas court. Sentence was passed immediately by Judge Allen upon their pleas of guilty.

Fallon and Hathaway are already under sentence of 30 years in the federal penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, for complicity in the robbery of the Glouster, O., postoffic several months ago. The prisoners will be taken to Ft. Leavenworth Friday to commence serving their terms on the federal charge. Their term in the Ohio pen will not be started until they have completed their federal sentence.

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 4—In the seclusion of the third floor prayer tower of the Richey evangelical temple, a woman was burned to death, when fire swept the structure late yesterday. She was tentatively identified as Mrs. A. Rayburn.

Firemen continued search for more bodies. Fire Chief Fred Seibert said two women were missing.

Mrs. Oscar Breeding, who left the tower shortly before the fire, said it "seemed God told me to leave there."

Daisy Walkup, an evangelist, said she was in the prayer tower when Mrs. Rayburn arrived and announced her intention of praying in behalf of the revival. The

MELLON GETS LONDON POST

Secretary of Treasury Will Resign To Accept Diplomatic Position.

MILLS TO SUCCEED HIM

Senate Approval of Appointment Expected Despite Numerous Foes.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Andrew W. Mellon will go to London as United States ambassador, resigning immediately the treasury secretaryship he has held for eleven years. He was named to succeed Charles G. Dawes.

Ogden L. Mills of New York, now undersecretary, will succeed him.

Mellon's acceptance of the country's most important diplomatic post was announced late last night by President Hoover.

The tense condition of international relations, the important economic problems now facing the world, said the President, dictated the selection, because they require "experiences and judgment of the highest order."

Senate OK Expected

Formal appointment is expected to go to the senate directly. There, despite the presence of numerous and bitter foes, confirmation was predicted. Mills, for the last two years virtual director of most treasury affairs, also is promised ready approval.

Mellon is 77. He left banking and industry to enter the Harding cabinet in March, 1921. Through the post-war readjustment and the ensuing booming prosperity, the present unsettled period, he laid out and executed firm policies which won unstinted applause and vitriolic denunciation. Through the

DISPUTE SETTLED AT DISARMAMENT MEET

Spanish Delegates' Effort To Blackball Jap Creates First Tiff.

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 4—The world disarmament conference experienced and settled its first fight today.

The clash developed over an effort of Dr. Salvador De Madariaga, Spanish delegate, apparently intent on punishing Japan for her hostile activities in China, to have blackballed Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London, who was proposed for one of the posts.

Dr. De Madariaga hinted he had the support of the American delegation, but Hugh Gibson, of the American delegation, assured Ambassador Matsudaira there was no American effort to deprive him of his seat.

Meanwhile the conference steering committee settled the matter by ruling that its nomination of fourteen vice presidents must be accepted or rejected in its entirety when a vote is taken.

GREEN CAMP YOUTH WINS OHIO CONTEST

Elmer Allen Takes First in Speaking Meet; Waldo Student Win Show Awards.

Elmer Allen, 18-year-old senior in the Green Camp High school, won first place in the state Future Farmers of America public speaking contest held in Columbus yesterday as a part of the Farmers' week observance sponsored by Ohio State university.

Allen, who won the right to enter the state contest by winning a district meet at Mt. Gilead a week ago, competed with 11 students representing as many districts. He will enter the regional contest at Springfield, Mass., next fall.

To Speak at Institute

The Green Camp student spoke on "Taxation as a Factor in Economic Readjustment." He will give the talk at the Green Camp Farmers' institute Feb. 16.

Waldo High school boys were awarded several honors at the meeting. Paul Holland and Walter Hender were among 47 boys of the state to receive medals for their eligibility in the ton-litter contest.

Paul Trefz of Morrow county, a student at the Waldo school, won first prize for Clarage corn. He also won the sweepstakes. His display won over those of boys in 29 counties in the northeastern section of Ohio.

Ralph F. Augenstein of Marion county, a student at the school, with his display of corn entered in the central western section, received fourth prize on a sample of learning and ninth on a sample of Clarage.

Merle Price and Harold Curren, both Waldo school students, are delegates from Waldo to the Future Farmers of America Leadership conference which is a part of the state meeting program.

Business Takes Lindy's Time on 30th Birthday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—This is a day rich in aviation sentiment. It's Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's thirtieth birthday.

It finds the prince of the skyways even more skilled in the science he loves — and just as averse to talking about himself.

The aged phrase "business as usual" applies to him today, so far as any one can discover. The world is left to guess whether there'll be a frosted cake at the Lindbergh's Jersey home for Charles Augustus, Jr., now a toddling youngster, to admire.

A trifle more mature, the flying colonel is in most respects just the youngster who speeded the heart beats of a world with his Paris flight. His light hair is just as tousled and his voice as boyish.

The last twelve-months has been an eventful one in the Lindbergh career. Twenty-thousand miles, more or less, would be a rough estimate of his year's air travels.

He piloted the American clipper one of the largest American made planes, on a transcaribbean flight. He even made a speech to a freshman class at Princeton university.

As for his popularity, it apparently shows no signs of waning. A process server can testify to that. He served Lindbergh with papers in a suit, boasted about it, and got punched on the jaw by a Lindbergh fan.

J. J. DAVIS DECLARES FOR MODIFICATION

U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania Announces Stand on Dry Law.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania is on record for immediate modification of the Volstead act and substitution of the Eighteenth amendment with a plan of state liquor control.

He announced that position last night in revealing his candidacy for reelection to the seat he won in November, 1930.

In his stand he adopted the program of the late Senator Morrow of New Jersey, who advocated a constitutional amendment to "restore to the states the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic, and vest in the federal government full power to give all possible cooperation and assistance to those states that desire prohibition against invasion from the states that do not"

Because constitutional change must take time, Davis espoused in the meantime, "such a modification in the Volstead law as will permit the regulated use of beer and light wines, not intoxicating in fact."

STRICKEN CITY DESERTED AS HUNDREDS FLEE

Santiago Evacuated for 24 Hours To Prevent Further Loss of Life.

FEAR BUILDINGS MAY FALL

Residents Take to High Hills as Another Tremor Is Recorded.

By The Associated Press

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 4 Fleeing thousands, virtually bearing their mattresses on their backs, to escape possible repetition of Wednesday's earthquake terrors, left quake-wrecked Santiago a dead city today.

There was a slight shock early this morning but it did no damage.

Nine Known Dead

The newspaper, Information, at Havana said today that the chief of police in Santiago announced he feared 80 to 100 bodies still lay under the wreckage.

Nine persons were known dead and approximately 1,000 of the 70,000 population were treated for injuries. The damage was officially estimated in excess of $10,000,000 by officials who surveyed the ruins left by one of the most destructive earthquakes to strike the city in the last 400 years.

The exodus to the high hills was in strange contrast to the flight yesterday to the Central plaza where frenzied invocations were made to the patron saint of Cuba for protection.

Meantime, rehabilitation was begun.

From Havana President Machado dispatched personal representatives and aid. Working crews began clearing the wreckage strewn streets. Physicians said they feared no epidemic.

To Rebuild City

Approximately 80 per cent of the city's houses will have to be rebuilt, officials stated. High buildings, an ancient cathedral whose spire surmounted angel was invoked by the frantic crowds, business houses, hotels and the like, all probably must be torn down, because of damage they suffered.

The flight preceded a proclamation by Mayor Desiderio Arnax that a 24 hour period of evacuation be observed to eliminate danger from falling walls or recurrent earth shocks.

CIVIC LEADERS CALLED

National Organization Planned To Aid in Thawing Frozen Cash.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — A new advance in the national war to restore prosperity was on today, launched by President Hoover in a strong call for every citizen's help in stopping hoarding.

He summoned last night a conference of civic leaders to plan a national organization to direct the movement. The group will meet here Saturday. In addition, state and city civic organizations were asked by Mr. Hoover to get busy.

The aim is to get an estimated billion and one-third back into banks and good investments. This sum, translated into terms of credit, grows five or ten times, and credit, said the President, "is the blood stream of our economic life."

"I am convinced," said Mr. Hoover, "that citizens hoarding currency or money do not realize its serious effect on our country.

"Every one hoarding currency injures not only his own prospects and those of his family, but is acting contrary to the common good. It is to their own interest that they should return it to circulation, as well as a patriotic service to the country as a whole."

He was supported by a statement from the reconstruction corporation directors, who called on every patriotic citizen to join in the movement. The corporation is to begin its loan-making, by the end

OHIO COUNTY FAIRS LOSING PROPOSITIONS

Guthery Compiles Figures To Show Expositions Going Steadily in Debt.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—County fairs in Ohio during the past 10 years have been losing ventures, it was shown today by figures compiled by I. S. Guthery of LaRue, state director of agriculture.

The figures show that the cash balance of all the fairs in 1931 was only $21,183.07 as compared with $171,198.39 in 1921. Total debts increased during the same period from $293,850.60 to $523,150.59.

The figures are based on reports from city fair boards. The report from Fairfield county showed the board there had a cash balance of $6,318.28 and was free of debt, in 1921. At the close of 1927, however the balance was only $3,165.27 and debts amounted to $36,000, while by the end of 1928 the cash balance reached $10,986.60, but only $2,976.22 remained to start 1930.

Most of the reports failed to specify the disposition of the funds, Guthery's statement said. At the close of 1930, the Fairfield county fair balance was fixed at $6,325.40, although the report for 1931 showed a total of $4,106.86 at the beginning of the year.

Guthery hopes through this inquiry to determine the methods of handling finances.

Two Representatives Die of Sudden Heart Attacks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Representatives Percy Quin of Mississippi and Samuel Rutherford of Georgia, died of heart attacks today, within an hour of each other.

Quin, a veteran of almost 20 years service, died about 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard time), while Rutherford, in his 70th year, had been a sufferer from heart ailments for months.

Both were Democrats. Their deaths, the latest of Democrats, took the party membership of Congress to 218, Republicans 218, Farmer-Labor one, and three vacancies.

Quin was elected to the house in 1919 to succeed his father, Congressman [illegible] who died while serving his 10th term. Rutherford was elected to the 72nd congress in 1930.

Sino-Japanese Developments at a Glance

By The Associated Press

TOKYO—Japan informed great powers that the Japanese will stop fighting at Shanghai if the Chinese will "immediately cease their disturbing activities." Only a moment before it was announced an army division would be sent to Shanghai to replace bluejackets there.

SHANGHAI—Almost at the time the Japanese note was handed the ambassadors Japanese bluejackets made two slashing attacks on the Chapei sector, were repulsed, and immediately planned a third more vicious offensive. Forts at Woosung withstood Japanese fire from warships.

Three hundred American marines landed from the cruiser Houston amid the din to help protect the international settlement.

There were reports that Admiral Shiosawa Japanese naval commander, had killed himself because he had been replaced by Admiral Nomura. The report was officially denied.

Police Search for Slayer, Believed To Have Killed Another.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 — A five-year-old girl, Florence McDonnell, was found strangled to death today in a Brooklyn cellar.

She had been missing from her home since yesterday and Brooklyn policemen, armed with floodlights, had searched cellars, alleys and housetops all night.

A widespread search for a maniac was immediately intensified. He was believed to have murdered another Brooklyn child last year and attacked three others within the last two months.

The McDonnell child, a public school kindergarten student, was the daughter of Thomas and Eileen McDonnell of Brooklyn. She was last seen at 2 p. m. yesterday two blocks from her home, and a few hours later the frantic parents appealed to police, declaring they believed she had been kidnapped.

The cellar where the body was found was only 75 feet from the little girl's home. A police emergency squad searching the cellar with flashlights came upon it. She apparently had been strangled by a man's hands, police said.

U. S., England Join in New Protest as Japan Rejects Peace Offer.

Copyright, 1932, By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 4—Chinese troops withstood a terrific Japanese attack in the Chapei sector of Shanghai this afternoon, successfully beating off the Japanese forces in a rain of artillery and machine gun fire.

It was the second onslaught by th Japanese on the sector during the day and followed another heavy shelling of the Chinese fort at Woosung, sixteen miles away, by Japanese warships.

Japs Surprised

The Chinese resistance in the Chapei sector surprised the Japanese, who laid detailed plans for a new attack.

At the Japanese headquarters this evening the staff was busy directing intricate street fighting and synchronizing attacks by airplane bombers.

The next attack was to sweep the Chinese positions with machine guns and three inch artillery, after which the bluejackets would hurriedly withdraw while bombing planes dumped their explosive cargoes on the buildings held by the Chinese. After this the bluejackets were to rush in again in an attempt to gain a few yards during the confusion that was expected to result.

After hours of heavy and persistent fighting earlier in the day, the Japanese admitted they had "gained only a little."

The forts held their own today as they did yesterday, when at one time they were reported by the Japanese to have been flattened out.

Artillery blazed across the battered area of Chapei and a shell screamed over the international settlement boundary, bursting among a group of Chinese buildings within a block of the main postoffice.

Half a dozen Chinese were injured and fire broke out. Several houses burned before the fire was brought under control. It was the first serious damage in the settlement since the artillery duel between Chinese and Japanese forces began.

The heaviest shelling took place between 11 a. m. and noon, an eye witness reported. After that Jap-

New Protest Filed Against Jap Actions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—A new protest against the use by the Japanese of the international settlement at Shanghai as a base for their attacks upon Chinese went to Japan today from the British and American governments.

It closely followed announcement in Tokyo of a Japanese reply to the latest Anglo-American overtures for peace. The new representations using American marines in the nations contended that the Japanese settlement as a shield, and express fear that fighting between the settlement and the native city might imperil innocent neutrals.

The Japanese reply to the peace proposals was awaited at the state department as the new protest went forward. It rejects two of the American-British proposals and conditionally accepts three.

Admiral Taylor, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, informed the navy that all Japanese patrols had evacuated the American and British defense sectors in the international settlement at Shanghai.

years he has withstood congressional efforts to oust him.

His personal fortune, ranked among the country's largest, caused much of the opposition.

In announcing Mellon's acceptance, the President called him "one of our wisest and most distinguished public servants."

Reduced U. S. Debt

Mellon was the man who insisted that this country's budget be balanced, who reduced the national debt in 10 years from twenty-six to seventeen billion dollars, who directed negotiations which led to the funding of the war debts owed the United States by its allies.

The man who succeeds him is 30 years his junior. Mills has been a marked man in Washington since early in the Hoover administration, when it was realized that here was the President's closest adviser on economic matters.

The present administration program for national economic recovery, bears his stamp at many a point.

Mills became undersecretary in 1927, resigning from congress to take the post.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

DURING THE LAST FEW days of storms, fog, heavy snow on the mountains, there have been numerous distressing airplane accidents, great courage shown by pilots as always.

One air mail pilot fell with his plane; it took fire, the mail was burned.

Nothing can be done for the brave man gone, but something could be done to protect the mail by providing fireproof containers for mail planes.

The Johns-Manville company, collaborating with the Aluminum Company of America, could provide extremely light containers or duralumin interlined with asbestos that would save the mail from fire.

BILL LIKELY TO PASS

Substitute Federal Relief Measure Expected To Survive Senate Vote.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Victory is forecast in the senate by leaders for the new Democratic $750,000,000 unemployment relief plan.

The measure, offered as a substitute to the LaFollette-Costigan bill to give the states $375,000,000 for feeding, clothing and housing the jobless, would divide the money between road construction and state loans, for direct relief work.

It caused a serious outbreak in Democratic ranks with Senator Costigan of Colorado, its co-author, bitter against those who sought federal appropriations for drouth victims a year ago and now opposed to direct federal aid to industrial sufferers. Senator Wheeler, (D) of Montana, branded the new plan a "subterfuge." However, its powerful sponsorship was expected to conquer.

Francis Lindley of Great Britain and Ambassador Giovanni Maloni of Italy. It asserted Japanese forces will cease hostile acts if assured that the Chinese will "immediately and completely cease their menacing and disturbing activities," added that "in view of the unreliability of the Chinese in the past and the gravity of the present situation the Japanese government finds it impossible to renounce mobilization or preparations for hostilities," raised no objection to negotiations for establishment of a neutral zone but declared "it is a settled policy of the Japanese government not to accept assistance of neutral observers or participants in the settlement of questions concerning Manchuria."

anese destroyers crept up closer to the forts, he said, apparently in order to draw the fire. The chief response from the Chinese, however, came from machine gunners on Soochow creek.

"When I arrived," the observer said, "one of the destroyers apparently had been hit and was beached. But it got off later and steamed down the river. Four Japanese airplanes then roared over the forts."

300 U. S. Marines Land

The firing beat a tatoo for landing of more than 300 United States marines from the cruiser Houston, which arrived from Manila yesterday. The Leathernecks asked "Where's the war?" as the boom of warships' guns down the river and the rattle of the lighter, sharper fire smote their ears.

The marines were marched to the international settlement, where they will take up posts to protect American lives and property.

Several shells were reported to have fallen within the international settlement during the day, but there was no indication that they had harmed anyone.

Dispatches from Tokyo said a division of Japanese soldiers was on the way from Japan to strengthen the bluejacket forces here.

Fighting along the international settlement borders ceased in midafternoon. A detachment of marines went forward and occupied a blockhouse post on the rifle range road which for the past six days was manned by volunteers. The blockhouse was under fire continually during the sniping, bombing and shelling and undoubtedly was struck by thousands of bullets, while the volunteers held it.

Many residents of the city displayed bullets that struck the walls of their houses.

Build Barricades

Work on sandbag barricades continued at a fast pace in the settlement, despite a downpour. Japanese troops continued in control of stations in the northern area of the settlement in spite of reports that Chinese police would take them over.

Three Japanese naval airplanes bombed the north station area of Chapei during the afternoon. Business was at a standstill as people filled the streets and roofs watching the bombing. The sky was darkened with smoke from fires.

Guards at homes and business houses in the settlement were strengthened. Flags of neutral nations were prominently displayed on buildings and vehicles.

cause of the terrific heat and danger of further explosions, firemen were unable to aid the doomed men, and confined their efforts to saving the wharf and surrounding property.

40 Men Sleeping

About 40 members of the tanker's crew of 52 were asleep in the after part of the vessel when the first blast rocked the ship. Many struggled to the deck and eight were taken off on a launch, or leaped into the flaming oil-covered water before other explosions followed.

How many, if any, drowned in the river, could not be definitely determined. Rescuers, who crept as close as they could to the burning tanker, reported hearing screams of agony coming from the depth of the ship and river below.

Ivor Kimmander, ship's cook, in describing the scene, said: "I was asleep. Suddenly I found myself hurtling against a wall opposite my bunk. I ran for the deck. Sailors were scrambling and pushing, and fighting their way up the companionway.

"Finally, I reached the deck. Flames were shooting up from a hole just forward of midship. We could not reach the dock because the bow of the ship was tied there, and the flames were between us and the bow.

Jump Into Water

"We realized the only chance we had was to launch a life boat. We tried but failed when it struck on the davits. Suddenly a launch appeared near our burning ship.

"We heaved over topes and ladders. Twenty of us made the launch and had just shoved off when the second explosion let go. Several of the men still on deck, were thrown into the river. Others leaped after them.

"The launch was filled. To take any more aboard would have capsized us. We had to leave them there—screaming in the river."

Mimes Present Second Public Show of Year

"Under Cover," by Roi Cooper Mergue, Staged at Playhouse by Marion Little Theater Group; Cast Handles Parts in Splendid Fashion.

After all, there's nothing like the spoken drama, if the play is commendably handled. "Under Cover," the Marion Mimes' second public production, comes under the "commendable" heading. The play will be presented tonight and Friday at 8:15 p. m. at the Playhouse on Davids street, formerly the Oakland theater, sponsored by the George Washington school Parent-Teachers' association.

The Mimes gave a smooth, well directed interpretation last night of Roi Cooper Mergue's four-act drama. The plot was interestingly developed to the climax in the fourth act in which the identity of "R. J." the United States secret service man is revealed.

Jewel smuggling and the attempt of the government to uncover a crooked customs employe who has been accepting bribes from persons smuggling articles into the country, is the skeleton plot.

Trap Smuggler

Wilson Tway as "Daniel Taylor," a deputy in the customs department, works with two of his men Ernest Arndt and Boyd Titsworth, to expose a "Steven Denby," played by W. W. Clarke, who is known to be smuggling a $200,000 pearl necklace through the customs.

They permit him to go through the customs without charging him with attempting to evade import duty, and set about to get him in a different way. They use "Ethel Cartwright," played by Mrs. Wilson B. Tway to accomplish their purpose. She is forced to work for them, through fear that her sister "Amy," Mrs. I. C. Dickson, will be imprisoned for pawning jewels and collecting the insurance.

The action moves from the customs' offices to the country estate of "Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harrington," A. C. Queen and Mrs. Wilfred Schaffner, and Mrs. Tway sets about to find the whereabouts of the pearls. Clarke is a house-guest of the Harringtons and the customs officials have learned that he is hiding the necklace in his tobacco wallet.

Mrs. Tway and Clarke have met previously in Paris and have grown to be close friends. She hesitates to trick him, but the threat of her sister's imprisonment goads her into an attempt to "frame" her friend.

Clarke and his friend "Monty Vaughn," played by Robert Uncapher, suspect her and are successful in a scheme to make her confess her part in their exposure. Clarke and she have grown to love each other and for her sake and for her sister Clarke manages to hoodwink Tway and his men until the last few minutes of the play.

Mrs. Hume Directs

Mergue's thrilling climax is well sustained by the actors, and carries a real punch.

Mrs. Paul Knappenberger plays a flirting young woman in love with Uncapher and her lines, with those of Queen and Miss Virginia Wilson add humor to the play. Miss Wilson has a short role of a young women deaf, dumb and unable to write. In an attempt to smuggle a diamond bracelet. J. B. Ellis a newcomer to the Mimes' active membership has the role of a butler in the Harrington home.

Mrs. Rodney B. Hume who has handled several successful Mimes productions directed the play. Saxon Kling who is visiting at his home here assisted with the production. Mr. Kling is a New York playwright and actor.

The entire cast was in fine form last night. The settings for the play are especially attractive.

An enjoyable addition to the evening's program was the playing of Miss Bernice Cougle, talented pianist. Between acts, she played groups of classical and popular numbers, together with several of her own composition.

Tonight and Friday night a string quartet composed of Miss Margaret Hoover, Miss Clara Leffler, Mrs. Doren E. Rea and Mrs. Clyde T. Coulter, will play.

The next public production of the little theater group will be March 30 and 31 and April 1.

"HER MEN" OPENS AT MARION

A gangster picture that is not a gangster picture. That is the story of "Her Men" which opened at the Marion last night for a two night run. Instead of the usual racketeer picture with police and gangsters shooting it out in hotels, liquor warehouses and flying automobiles the picture is the story of a gangster who has a yearning to become a gentleman, and of a girl who agrees to help him achieve his ambition.

Charles Bickford is the hard boiled racketeer and Lois Moran is the girl.

Deserted in a French hotel by a worthless count who has promised to marry her, the girl is saved from being thrown from the hotel by the arrival of the hard-boiled gangster. In return for his kindness she agrees to teach him how to become a gentleman. The inevitable happens and the gangster falls in love with his tea-her only to find she has promised to marry the son of a United States senator.

A comedy, "When Summons Comes," and a Fox news reel are also on the programs.

Have you what is commonly call that Tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"—how often you hear this

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count . . . the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

For Friday, Feb. 5

RATHER adverse and difficult conditions may be expected today from the unfavorable aspects of the planets. You may be stubborn obstacles to overcome, postponements and disappointments, as well as peculiar or crafty situations to be met. Be very cautious in the signing of all manner of documents or writings, lest there be fraud, treachery and misrepresentation.

Those whose birthday it is may be called on to meet many obstacles, disappointments and postponements during the year. They are warned to sign all writings cautiously and to be on guard against fraud, trickery and lies. It is advisable for them to postpone, if possible, all important matters until a better time. A child born on this day may be steady, plodding, studious and industrious, but should be assisted to a free and optimistic outlook on life and fitted to cope tenaciously with obstacles.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Shoes are marks of distinction and wealth here. They cost now about $50 a pair. Butter, too was affected by a 20 per cent to 100 per cent rise in prices. It is $1.14 a pound.

CONCORD, N. H. — Maybe the bell ringer forgot. While Concord observed the opening of the Geneva disarmament conference yesterday, he played "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" on the chimes. And the last words include "the army and navy forever."

NEW YORK—Two hundred and twenty goldfish have Prohibition Administrator McCampbell up a creek. He got them in a speakeasy raid and doesn't know what to do with them.

HOLLYWOOD — In these times of economic stress and strain, this is news. Fox Films paid Noel Coward, English author, in excess of $2,000,000 for the rights of three of his plays. It's one of the biggest deals in movie history.

Two Cases Found.

Two physician's cases found on a pile of stone at the rear of the Hotel Harding by the police yesterday afternoon, were identified as the property of Dr. E. H. Morgan. The cases, the physician told the police, were taken from his automobile while parked at the rear of the hotel a short time before. Nothing had been taken from them.

Eczema in Water Blisters Burned Terribly. Cuticura Healed.

"My little boy had eczema. The trouble first started on his left arm. It was in little patches of pimples and water blisters and itched and burned terribly. He scratched until the eruptions would bleed and they looked badly. Later the trouble spread to his body, the top of his left ear and up through his hair. His clothing aggravated the breaking out on his body, especially when he got warm.

"I sent for free samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I purchased more and in about a month he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Earl Wells, 1438 S. Lawrence St., Wichita, Kans., Aug. 6, 1931.

Daily Proverb—"There is more trouble in having nothing to do, than in having much to do."

An official probe, so says a Shanghai cable, fails to show any insult to the United States flag there. Somebody over there seems to have become unduly excited.

The Ontario government is reported to have "slashed" the prices of wines and liquors. The rum business in Canada must be falling off, that the province should resort to bargain prices to stimulate it.

Vigilantes killed one bandit and captured another following the holding up of a bank by four gunmen, at Stanwood, Iowa. It may not come today, tomorrow or next day, but the time will come when the vigilante idea will take root all over the country.

Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, says that 305 American cities are asking for direct federal aid. Can it be that the number seeking to get in on easy money is so few? The senator must certainly be mistaken.

This year's dead in Cook county, Illinois, as the result of automobile accidents up to and including Tuesday numbered 109. One hundred and nine dead in thirty-three days! It may be seen that the city of Chicago is maintaining her average.

"Gang Terrorizes Tavern Crowd, Attacks Girl," reads a headline over a story of the holding-up and robbing of fourteen persons in a roadhouse near Joliet, Illinois, and the outraging of a young woman member of the party by three of the gangsters. One can not help but wonder in what way the roadhouse is an improvement over the saloon.

Convicted as the leaders of the recent revolt in Salvador, three reds were put to death in San Salvador this week. The Latin-Americans are somewhat less squeamish about meting out punishments for plots against the government than we are up here.

The situation of the foreigners in Shanghai can hardly be so desperate as some of the cables from that city indicate. If it is, we will be forced to take the assurance of Americans that cable back to relatives here to the effect that they are in no danger as worthless.

Following the lead of the senate in adopting a resolution to do away with "lame duck" sessions of congress, a house committee has recommended similar action. It begins to look as though the picturesque political birds who suffer defeat will hereafter be knocked off their perches January 4 instead of being permitted to hang on until March 4 following the election.

Every Little Saving Helps.

At a time such as the present, when it is manifestly necessary for municipalities to practice every economy possible no matter how trifling it may seem in the sum total of governmental expense, it might be well for the city government to discontinue the use of the one-time amber traffic signals which some months since were painted red.

The purpose in making the change in color was to stop the practice of many motorists in starting on the amber light instead of waiting for the green to show as required by the traffic ordinance. The change proved effective for a day or two, but it wasn't a week before the same motorists who had formerly started on the amber, were starting on the red middle light, and this practice has grown in the failure of the police to apprehend offenders until it has become the very common practice, if not the rule, for motorists to start on the one-time caution lights with just about the same freedom from apprehension as would be theirs in starting on the green.

Many other cities have recognized the propensity on the part of the drivers who are always in a hurry despite the fact that they may have no place to go, and have cut out the center lights entirely and use the green "go" and red "stop" lights only. They have found that the change actually has a restraining influence, and really works for the safety of motorists alike when given even ordinary support by the police. In fact, the police chief of an eastern city is quoted in a magazine article as claiming that the elimination of the caution lights has had a beneficial effect on the potential slayers who make right and lift turns around corners at from twenty-five to thirty miles an hour. This, however, will appear to readers who have watched drivers given to the practice as almost beyond belief.

In any event, the elimination of the center lights, even though it may not work for safety, will cut the cost of bulb maintenance a third, and, that in itself will be something of a saving throughout a year, even though the saving effected by the change is limited to that.

An Unique Railroad Agreement.

Early this week announcement was made that, as the result of seventeen days of negotiations "without parallel in rail-labor history," railroaders from section men to engineers had agreed to a ten per cent. cut in their pay for a period of a year.

Now it is known that, as the result of negotiations which had been pending for the last four years, the management of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad company and its engineers entered into a wage agreement last Sunday, to take effect the day following, which is held to be unique in railroad history. It is something of a coincidence that this agreement was entered into the same day as that reached in Chicago in which the Delaware & Hudson took no part, having decided to negotiate directly with its employes.

The Delaware & Hudson agreement applies only to engineers, similar wage agreements affecting conductors, firemen and trainmen being under way, but not yet sufficiently along the way to justify a statement as to their probable outcome.

By the terms of the Delaware & Hudson agreement, 400 of the company's engineers are guaranteed continuous employment and the "extra" engineers are guaranteed a living wage, and yet the railroad is to reduce its operating costs.

In the past the men have been paid on a mileage and hourly basis and were able to make considerable extra time. Now the engineers are to be paid on a monthly salary basis. Despite the economic recession, the railroad has provided work for all its employes. Its shopmen, it is stated, never have fallen below four days' work a week, and other employes have been given similar employment.

The new agreement, as described by the New York Times, in effect provides that all regular engineers are to be guaranteed eight hours' work a day at the regular rates for their runs. When the engineer has completed 240 hours of work, he steps down and does not work again until the next month. Another engineer is put on for the remainder of the month. In this way the railroad takes care of its idle engineers.

Stand-by engineers who wait for a vacancy are guaranteed $200 a month minimum whether they work or not, and they are to work at least 160 hours at $1.25 an hour. Overtime is to be given at the same rate. Time-and-a-half for overtime is abolished.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the new agreement is unique in the annals of railroading in that it is employment insurance; in that, under it the engineers of the Delaware & Hudson are guaranteed employment and the "stand-by" engineers are to be given employment or minimum pay of $200 a month in lieu of employment, the elimination of time and a half for overtime, enabling the management to reduce its operating costs.

To one not conversant with the business of railroading, it would seem that the Delaware & Hudson agreement is more favorable to railroad labor, especially at a time of business recession, than the one reached in Chicago. Be this as it may, the results attained in both cases through negotiations are bound to prove more satisfactory to all concerned, including the general public, than agreements which left dissatisfaction and bitterness in their wakes could possibly have been.

The country, as well as the railroad managements and the workers, is to be felicitated over the reaching of the two agreements.

Oriental Composure.

Americans trying hard to understand and foresee results of the drift toward war between Japan and China are apt to be confused by the strange placidity of the oriental statesman. He anticipates objections before they are voiced, and suavely nips them in the bud by announcing that Japan already has taken care of that point. Perhaps he gets a laugh for his pains, as happened Tuesday at the League of Nations council, but he continues unruffled. Or perhaps a military official's explanation that what was hailed as an attack on Nanking really was a reluctant defense is received with raised eyebrows by a foreign correspondent, but the general doesn't seem to mind much.

This isn't the American way of handling difficult situations. In the first place, the art of dissembling never has been encouraged in this country. Frank, open dealing was the policy of the founding fathers and has continued to hold place as the national idea. Furthermore, there is something intrinsic in the American character that prevents calmness in the presence of difficulty. The national impulse is to proceed vigorously, depending more heavily upon the element of surprise than the insidious attack of guile to come away victorious from the engagement.

It becomes more apparent with each new development of the strife between Japan and China that the Japanese are proceeding with purpose and plan, to what end no one is quite sure. It may be only to develop a needed market for Japanese goods in Chinese territory; it may be a program of national aggrandizement on an international scale; it may be the ancient device of waging a war to distract attention from affairs at home. Probably it is a combination of all these factors with perhaps a few more added for good measure. Whatever the motive or motives, it can be depended upon that the Japanese will perform smoothly, preserving their oriental composure at any expense.

There were 795 deaths in New York City in 1931 in which alcohol was the direct or contributing cause, an increase of 100 per cent. over the number the year before. The gentlemanly bootlegger and blind-tiger-keepers must have permitted the quality of their poison to deteriorate shamefully.

Sheriff Thomas M. Farley and former Sheriff Charles W. Culkin were indicted in New York City, yesterday, for grand larceny. The Seabury investigation showed that both had kept for themselves interest on public money entrusted to them as sheriffs, and had extremely large incomes unexplained by their salaries. Really, we are beginning to feel that the Tammany government of the metropolis has not been wholly beyond reproach.

THE KIBITZER!

Editorial Opinion.

A CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

While both political parties are quarreling about several controversial questions, they show a tendency to overlook completely a most important issue, perhaps the dominant issue in America today. That is the restoration of enterprise to the individual and the withdrawal of government from the multitude of paternalistic functions it has taken over.

In his Cincinnati speech, as well as in other pronouncements, Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, has stressed the states' rights issue. It is a hobby of his, and there are many sound arguments to support it. But more challenging even than this is the larger question of taking entirely away from all governments, state and federal, the privilege of throwing millions of dollars into futile enterprises which are not essential to the public welfare. Mere states' rights does not fill the bill.

Doubtless many leaders in industry and agriculture are now pleading with the government to aid them. And they can find plenty of congressmen to press their cause. But there remain infinitely more business men and farmers who are willing to win their own battles, provided they are not taxed to pay for the incompetence of others.

This applies not only to such colossal blunders as the federal farm board experiment and the many proposals for a federal dole, but likewise to many measures approved or proposed for remedying business conditions, notably prohibitive tariffs and subsidies to particular industries.

Even while new and higher taxes are being framed in congress, reckless schemes are being proposed there to appropriate millions of dollars for these nostrums. It is a vicious circle from which we can emerge only with the utmost courage and determination. That ought to be the issue in every political leader's mind today. But since it is not, it ought to be the leading issue in the campaign that is coming.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A ROMANCE OF "TAPS."

Home from the sesquicentennial of the Cornwallis surrender, French officers tendered to their army a souvenir. On the initiative of General Gouraud it has been accepted. In remembrance of comradeship in two wars, the army of France will adopt the United States army's bugle call, taps.

As a signal for "lights out," it was already somewhat French—though not more so than it was Norse, Turkish, Russian, Middle English or Hungarian—through derivation of the name from "taper." In daily routine, taps at 11 p. m. means that the cares and efforts of the day are ended.

In the quiet the bugle blows for "the long, lone watch." Taps rises and falls and rises again to its final soaring beauty.

Not everybody knows the words that go with the call. They have a noble antique grace:

Fades the light
And afar
Goeth day,
Cometh night;
And a star
Leadeth all
To their rest.

No martial music is sweeter to doughboys nor more hallowed with memories.—New York Times.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Sunday, February 4.

Utilizing the city papers, William W. Durbin, of Kenton, speaking for anti-Harmon delegates, gave out six reasons why the Ohio governor should not be nominated for president.

Exercise Essential to Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Exercise is a very important factor in the maintenance of health. Unless a person indulges in some form of physical activity he will become unnecessarily fat. The organs of his body will not function properly.

Statistics from insurance companies show that a man fifty years of age, fifty pounds overweight, has lessened his chances of living fifty per cent. There is no need to be fat. By exercising mildly and by not overeating, one can maintain a normal weight and good health.

It is too bad that the average city dweller does not receive proper exercise. Due to long hours in an office, and the modern conveyances, it is not necessary for him to walk more than two or three city blocks. When a holiday comes, the day is not spent in the open air, but in the movies or at home.

This mode of living is wrong. An office worker should utilize every opportunity to walk, play golf, or in some way exercise his body. Not only does exercise stimulate the organs of the body to better functioning, but it clears the brain for better thinking.

However, a person should not indulge in a sport that is too strenuous. It would be improper to advise a man over 35 to participate in such strenuous games as football, soccer or cross-country running. The strain upon the heart would be too great and might seriously injure him.

Milder forms of exercise, which include golf, swimming, walking and bowling, are forms which can be indulged in by every one and which give the proper stimulation and interest necessary to make them enjoyable.

It is too bad that modern science has made things "too easy" for the present and coming generations. Since the invention of the automobile, the aeroplane and other improved methods of transportation, people have been literally taken "off their feet." Those who would have walked, or ridden horseback to work, now step into a street car or an auto at their door and are wheeled to their place of business without an effort.

I hope that the people in years to come realize the necessity and benefits of exercise. I pray that they will take advantage of the many attractive forms to aid them in seeking health.

The Holy Land.

BY TEMPLE MANNING

Many pilgrims to the Holy Land choose to enter it through the ancient harbor of Jaffa, the Joppa of Biblical times. Here can be found the house of Simon the Tanner on the roof of which humble dwelling Peter had his beautiful vision which led to his proclamation concerning the "Brotherhood of Man."

About twenty miles south of the city is Hebron, where the patriarchial Abraham once lived. Today chief interest in Hebron centers about the cave of Machpelah where this famous Biblical character is buried. Near-by also are the graves of Isaac and Rebecca and also Leah and Sarah.

On the Hebron road are to be found the celebrated pools of Solomon. Historians do not really know whether the fabulously wealthy Jewish king really built these ancient reservoirs, but they certainly seem old enough to have been part of the great works which the wise king ordered constructed.

Bedouins are usually employed to guide tourists across the fertile plain of Sharon to the foothills of the Mountains of Judea. The Bedouins are strange desert folk believed to be descendants from Abraham's son, Ishmael, and their curious villages dot the path of the traveler's journey.

Coming in sight of the great range of mountains called Mount Sinai one sees the enormous fortress of solid granite, the Monastery of St. Catherine, in the middle of the desert. This is close to the Mountain of Moses or Jebel Musa. The monastery contains the site of the burning bush and at one time 5,000 Christians and several hundred Greek priests lived there. Today only thirty Greek priests and a few Bedouins live there.

Climbing to the summit of the mountain one passes two small chapels. One was built for the Virgin for saving the convent from a plague of fleas and the other was erected to the memory of Elijah and Elisha.

At the topmost point of the mountain stands a cross. It was among the nearby rocks that Moses received his Ten Commandments and as you go down the other side of the mountain the guide will point out to you the traditional rock which Moses struck and from which water immediately flowed.

Governor Looker's War Record Again

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

An Ohio descendant of Timothy Mulford, for whom Othniel Looker, governor of Ohio, served as substitute in the Revolutionary war, thinks a recent story of the matter in this column might be construed as meaning that Mulford was a bounty jumper. Such was not intended, and the writer does not believe in unwarranted construction. These are the detailed facts.

Late in the summer of 1777 Timothy Mulford was ill, seriously so, as he believed. He made a will on September 20 of that year distributing all his property of every kind to his children. He did not die, nor was this will ever probated. It was preserved, and has been kept in a descendant's family in New Jersey all these years.

Othniel Looker in his application for pension states that "three months of the time I was a substitute for Ezekiel Tucker, Timothy Mulford and Ebenezer Sayre," but he gave no reason why he served. Tucker and Mulford were on the roll of May 7, 1778 with Looker. Sayre is not otherwise identified.

Whether Mulford was physically fit for duty when he was classed on the list, No. 23, revolutionary war commission May 7, 1778, it is not possible to say, but he was probably held for service. He received a certificate for one pound, seven shillings four pence to cover depreciation in continental currency in which he was originally paid. If he was called again it may have been due to his weakened condition that the substitution of Looker was proposed and accepted.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, Feb. 4—The metropolitan city over celebrities has resulted in several panics in the Broadway section, prompt action of cordons of police preventing them. Most of the potential disasters around movie and legitimate theaters on first nights.

I was one of the innocents caught in the slog the other evening. And for a moment was taken off my feet and swept along with a tide that in a few more seconds would have been a screaming and hysterical mass. Several had already fallen to the pavement.

As it was, two buttons were yanked off my overcoat and my hat was lost. And a fellow innocent nearby was minus his bill for the cause of the sudden crush was the exit of a movie star from the theater to the curb to enter her limousine.

The quick flair of such eruptions is an amazing phenomenon. One second the crowd was moving leisurely and suddenly a ripple of excitement like fire in dry grass. Necks were craned and the mighty crush set in. The rest was a confusing blur.

I emerged from the experience with a new respect for the police, especially an Irish bobber with a rich brogue who shouldered his way to the midst of things. "It's all right folks," he called. "I'm here with you and nothing is going to happen. It's just a little fun."

There was an assurance in his voice and the black gather of fear melted magically. The two greatest magnets for the curiosity mobs are ex-Governor Smith and Mayor Walker. Traffic crowds spot their low numbered cars when they are permitted to park outside theaters.

Incidentally, I see no reason for this privilege when life is endangered. While the distinguished gentlemen, of course, are not responsible for such psychological mass behavior it seems to me their cars should not be permitted to tangle traffic into such a dangerous knot.

Passing of a Venerable Firm.

BY H. A. PETERS

Berlin, Feb. 4—U.P.—Gourmets the world over will mourn the passing of the venerable Berlin firm of F. W. Borchardt, fathers of the international "delikatessen" movement, and a one-time premier caterer to European crowned heads.

Republicanized stomachs and economic depression—flattened pocketbooks of aristocratic gourmets have sounded the deathknell for the house whose "primeurs de saison" have graced the tables of aristocracy for many decades and whose choice delikatessen creations, or imitations have tickled the palates of millions.

The house itself remains in its ancient surroundings in the "Franzoesische Strasse" where it will continue to do business as a wine restaurant, but the department with which it achieved world renown—the delikatessen department—has gone into less famous hands.

Gone are days when the Berliner would behold, at Christmas-time, the season's first asparagus behind the Borchardt show windows. Here, on early carnival days, he would smack his lips at the sight of the first strawberries. Everything capable of making a mouth water was there—and at prices prohibitive for the pocketbook of the average citizen.

But the people did not worry about the prices. The name of Borchardt was worth the price. It was known far beyond the frontiers of Germany. Innumerable were the festival banquets, served at the court of the Russian czar in St. Petersburg, which had been created and prepared in the "Franzoesische Strasse" at Berlin.

Then the firm's chefs, taking with them giant baskets and parcels, containing mountains of food, would depart for the Russian capital, where the dishes were made ready.

Few are the countries of Europe where Borchardt chefs have not practiced the culinary arts of the mother-house. Its clientele even reached as far as Asia. Frequently the sultan of Turkey ordered feasts on the occasion of visits by foreign potentates from the Berlin caterers.

Borchardt chefs were members of the retinue of the Kaiser whose feasts they prepared on his visit through the Holy Land. Almost daily Borchardt dinners were shipped to the stately castles of the German aristocracy in all parts of the Reich.

Clients seldom paid upon delivery, but usually upon receiving a bill on New Year. Those who failed to settle their accounts received no warning. It was poor business to offend such a sensitive clientele; it might mean the loss of their patronage for all times. Another bill was all that the considerate firm might send out six months later.

Then came the decline of German aristocracy. Democratic Berlin and Republican Germany lack the means with which to trade at Borchardt's. All efforts of the firm to adjust its business to the demands of the new era have failed.

Feel Like a New Person In Just a Little While

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop

Get Hill's now It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well: to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried

Thousands like Mr. Barnes are finding quick, certain relief for sour stomach, or acidity, by using Pape's Diapepsin Chew a tablet and that feeling of weight and discomfort after eating just disappears.

Quick Relief from Constipation

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 30 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth bad breath—a dull, tired feeling sick headache torpid liver constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough due to a cold. It takes but a moment to mix, costs little, and saves money, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

The Right Way to Reduce

If you are over-fat, do what doctors the world over now are doing. They supply a lacking gland secretion which helps turn food to energy, rather than to fat. The results are seen everywhere. Without starvation, multitudes of people have gained new beauty, youth and vim.

That right method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle you see slender, happy people who can tell you the results.

Go do what they did. Ask your druggist for Marmola. A book in the box will tell you all about it. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, and vim comes back. Start Marmola now.

CHAPTER TEN

"You're Being Bossed Now!"

"DICKEY!" Hope cried out "Dickey!"

It was all over before she had time to realize what was happening. Before she realized that Rusty Crandall was felled on the path—prone at her feet. Before she heard a triple cry from the shadows of the porte-cochere, and recognized a figure in water-green taffeta run forward with a sob.

"Oh, Rusty!" Hope groaned and bent forward.

But Dickey took her by the shoulders and straightened her upright. Looking her square in the eyes. With that same keen dominant blue . . .

"He's all right," he growled quietly. "He's not hurt. I hardly touched him. What do you think I am? A porridge-eater?"

"Don't you talk to me!" stamped Hope furiously.

"I certainly won't. I wouldn't waste breath!" he grunted.

Without a word, he leaned over and swooped her into his arms.

Even as Rusty was getting to his elbow and calling out to them, over and above Angela's voice trying to comfort him and calling for help all at once, Dickey had lifted her into the contraption he called a car.

Hope gulped. Admiration, protest, humiliation and glorious pride storming in her young breast.

Into the car beside her climbed Dickey without a word, fumbling for his key.

She battled with the tears.

"You've been mean to me all night!" she stormed finally. "I never knew such despicable manners in all my life. Why should you blame me if my mother acts upstage, anyway? I never said anything about your old family."

"You couldn't!" flung Dickey over his shoulder as he threw in the clutch.

"You take me straight home this minute. Believe me, I've never been treated by anyone like this before in all my life."

"I'm not listening!" Dickey informed her calmly. "I know you've never been treated this way before. I should have started long ago. I'm starting right now! And what's more I'll take you home if I feel like it and when I feel like it, and not before."

Which of course, didn't make sense. But Hope and Dickey thought it was sense, and understood it perfectly.

"You've absolutely no right to boss me, you unspeakable bully, you." Hope's voice and eyes might have warned any other swain of hers but Dickey.

Dickey scrunched down and devoted his sullen attention to his driving. The wind cut across Hope's face, and she lifted her voice to combat it.

"Where are you taking me?" I don't live up this way, and you know it!"

Still Dickey drove, his eyes determinedly fixed on the road that whizzed under his well-worn tires.

"You think you can bully me!" stormed Hope with admirable fury.

She bent over swiftly and grasped the emergency brake, drawing it upright with a fiendish strength.

Fortunately Dickey was far from being as tight as she had gauged him. With swift realization of the danger she was causing the speeding car, he let off the gas and bore down slowly with his foot-brake against the clutch. The car shrieked, reeled, gasped with a swift clutter of gears, and slid a quarter-way round the roadside, half teetering on two wheels.

In the second of the dead standstill neither spoke. Hope, pale and terrified, was huddled forward.

A second later, Dickey's arm jerked out, and he slapped the small, tightened hand on the emergency brake with a smart, resounding smack.

Hope cried out with the sting and lifted her hand to the soft comfort of her warm cheeks. She stared at Dickey, too aghast to speak.

"You damn little meddler!" choked Dickey angrily. "It's about time somebody took a hold of you. You brainless senseless worthless little flirt!"

"I am not!"

"You are so!"

"Dickey—"

"You shut up until you're told to speak!" fired Dickey masterfully. "Who the hell do you think you're playing with? Now, this is a showdown. Understand me? Either you and I quit right now or we come to an agreement. Which is it going to be?"

Hope, in the strained moonlight, watched him, her heart thumping with admiration for the valiant manliness of the boy who was treating her rough. Forgotten was the smarting hurt of her hand in the delicious adventure of the moment, when in a car straddling the road, a fit target for any speeder who might whizz toward them, her hero demanded a showdown.

"Do you love me—or don't you?" demanded Dickey ruthlessly. "Come on. Make your mind up once and for all. Did you mean it—when you said you loved me?"

Hope's eyes crinkled up excitedly.

"You know you know I love you Dickey," she murmured dutifully—and liked it.

"Yeah? And how much?"

"Terribly much."

"You mean it? Because I'm not the playing kind!"

He was grand. He was stern and mighty and earnest and bossy. . . .

"Dicky dear—kiss me."

Her nearness melted the grim turn of his mouth. His gloved hand reached around and held the tousled yellow hair with firm outspread fingers. . . . He felt her quiver under the pressure of his lips.

Hope had never known a kiss to last like that—except in the lulling tranquillity of her daydreams . . .

She blinked her eyes and laughed breathlessly; worship in her clinging glance on his intent and adoring face.

"Hope will you marry me?"

"Oh, Dickey—yes!"

"You mean it?"

"Dickey, I do mean it. Terribly. Except I'll never make a really good wife, Dickey. I'm not built on wifely lines, I'm afraid."

"But you'd be willing to try?"

"Well, you'd have to be awfully patient with me, Dickey," she gurgled, delighted with this turn of the conversation. "You see, you'd have to spoil me, and—"

"Nothing doing," snorted Dickey with a jerk of his head at the moon. He leaned forward and started the car again, and Hope watched him carefully as he adjusted the roadster to the road and headed once more in the direction they had been taking. She was sure of herself once more, and terribly in love.

"othing doing," repeated Dickey as they started at a decent speed farther and farther away from Hope's home. "Im not going to spoil you. And I'm not going to be awfully patient. That's the bunk. You've been spoiled all your life, Hope. What you need is a boss. You're a nice girl, but you're pretty impossible. It's not your fault. You have a Big Chief Frozen Face for a father, and a bloody Art Object for a mother. They're all right. Nice people in their own way, and they're none of my how-do-you-do. But they've spoiled you within an inch of your sanity. You need a husband that will teach you you can't have your own way all the time."

I might not like a husband like that."

"Oh yes you will. I'll be awfully good to you, little one. But it's got to be 50-50. You'll enjoy having a boss."

"Maybe I will," Hope laughed at the absurdity of the idea. "And maybe by the time you graduate and have a year or so in business—"

"We're not going to wait until I graduate," Dickey smiled at her to sugar the firmness of his voice. "We're going to be married right now."

"Right — what did you say, Dickey?"

"Right now."

"You're crazy—"

"I'm crazy in love with you."

"But Dickey—"

"No buts about it," Dickey insisted gently. "You said you loved me and you would marry me. We're going to be married right now. Tonight. I know a place right over the state line—and what's more, I've got a license since last week."

"Dickey!"

"You're being bossed right now, honey. It's all or nothing and what I say goes and goes big. I'm starting out right. You've reached the last of your flirting days."

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

The Men Depart on the Dangerous Mission and Madge and Lillian Prepare to Await Their Return.

OUTWARDLY calm, but with hands interlaced in a grasp that was to leave them aching, Lillian and I stood together listening to the receding sounds of her husband's powerful car. They were not loud, for Harry Underwood has a way with motors, and he had employed all his knowledge to keep his as silent as possible, lest any hint of their expedition should reach the ears of a possible listener outside the patrolled section surrounding the farmhouse.

"I don't think that could be heard very far away," I said when the sound of our imagination could bring another pair of the motor to the ears.

"But, We shall never know," she said, and silently we stood together until a few minutes later Jim's figure materialized from the darkness.

"Could you hear the motor with any ease?"

"No, I ... till five minutes after the light in the barn went out. Then I came in. Axton says he put it out just at the second Mr. Underwood told him, so they must have passed near enough for me to hear 'em if anybody could."

"Yes, they started on the minute scheduled," I answered. "Thank you, Jim. What are your orders now?"

"To go back to my post with Axton just as soon as I reported to you."

"Then we mustn't keep you," Lillian said, pulling me back as her toward the door. I ... her unwillingly, for ... me that I must stay ... ing and watching ... should return.

I had the ... opinion ... course, I ... when ... ah, I ...

"All right, Katie," I said with a little signal to Lillian, "we'll go away and leave you to do your work in peace. But call us when you hear the car coming back."

I'll do dot leetle ting," she said, beaming as we went out of the kitchen.

"You sure puled a dud that time," Lillian said with the wry ghost of a smile. "Taking Katie away from this third act would be worse than snatching a baby's candy, if babies have candy in these enlightened days. So that occupation's gone. Come on into the living room and see what the youngsters are pulling off. Noel and Ronald may be at each other's throats by this time."

Presidents Working Hard To Regain Early Season Form

BOHYERMEN NOT UP TO USUAL STANDARD IN PRACTICE DRILLS

However, "Our Boys" Are Confident of "Taking" Bucyrus Second Time.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

About every so often coaches of athletic teams deem it quite the proper thing to issue some kind of a bear story concerning the prospects of victory for dear old Podunk over the brilliant band of warriors from Punkin Center. In most cases the story doesn't mean anything. In fact, about nine tenths of the time it is merely one large goh of hooey—or something.

However, once in awhile there is a reason for the bear story and the practice session of the Harding basketball team yesterday provides the material for this one.

Harding meets Bucyrus Friday night to launch the second half of competition in the N. C. O. league. The Presidents defeated the Bucktown boys by a 10 point margin in the first game of the league season back on New Year's night of 1932. That might give some persons reasons to believe that the Bucyrus boys will be just another push-over for the Men of Bohyer when the two teams meet to settle the issue Friday.

Wrong Again

Wrong again, Horatio! This Bucyrus team is no push-over for any one and no one realizes it better than the members of the Harding basketball team. However, try as they will, so far this week the Presidents have not shown the form necessary to turn back the Redmen. It isn't because they haven't tried. They simply haven't been able to "click."

So there's the bear story. Harding has to meet a tough team Friday and the Presidents haven't looked good in practice. How soon they will reverse form and look once again like a classy court aggregation is another story. No one is more confident of the ability to be "on" against Bucyrus than the Harding boys. Perhaps they will regain their stride as suddenly as they have lost it since the Mansfield encounter.

As yet it's nothing to get all "het" up about. Harding looked

TITLE CONTENDERS TO COLLIDE FRIDAY

Week's Conflicts To Have Much Bearing on County Court Championships.

With the two girls' championships already in the bag, the boys' basketball teams of the Marion county scholastic circuit will see what can be done Friday night about deciding which two teams will wear the crowns which are annually awarded the best teams in the East and West divisions of the rural loop. There is no assurance that either of the boys' titles will be decided this week. In fact, it seems quite possible that neither will be decided until the final game of the season on Feb. 12 and there is a chance, not such a long shot either, that both races will end the season in a two-way deadlock.

Morral girls in the West division and Claridon girls in the East are the 1932 champions of the fairer sex in the county. This is the second consecutive undisputed championship for Claridon. Morral shared in a three-way tie for the title last season with Pleasant and Prospect.

The boys' championship of the East division is a toss-up between Waldo and Caledonia. In the West half, Morral, champions last year, and Meeker are fighting it out for the top post.

Contenders Clash

Morral and Meeker and Waldo and Caledonia will clash Friday night in a pair of games at Caledonia and Morral. If Morral turns back the Meeker challenge it will have cinched the crown for the second consecutive season. When the two teams met earlier in the season Morral was the winner by a 19-16 margin, gained only after a hard-fought conflict. Meeker is supremely confident of being able to reverse the decision this meeting. If Meeker wins, the race will in all probability finish in a deadlock as neither Green Camp nor LaRue appears sufficiently strong to beat the leaders in the last game of the race on Feb. 12.

When the winner of the Caledonia-Waldo clash is decided the team on top will have a full game lead with but one more game to go but even then there will be no assurance that the championship is won. If Caledonia disposes of Waldo, the Burger-coached team will have to meet Kirkpatrick the following week and defeating the boys under the direction of Frank Furniss is no task to be relished by any team in the Marion county league.

On the other hand, if Waldo wins, the Copeland-directed quintet will have yet to hurdle the Claridon obstacle, another assignment of some consequence. Claridon has had only fair success this season but is strong enough that it can not be reckoned as a certain loser in any game.

Complete Schedule

The complete schedule in the East half calls for Waldo to invade Caledonia; Martel to pay a visit to Claridon, and Pleasant to entertain Kirkpatrick. In the West half the schedule lists LaRue at Agosta, Meeker at Morral and Green Camp at Prospect. The schedule calls for a boys' and girls' game at all places except Morral. Meeker does not have a girls' team so Morral will take on the Marion Business college girls in a non-league encounter. The Business college girls handed Morral its only loss of the season to date recently and Morral is planning to "shoot the works" in an effort to even the score this week.

POST SEASON COURT TOURNEY ARRANGED FOR CHURCH CIRCUIT

City Sunday School Teams To Engage in Post Season Games.

Announcement has been made by the Sunday school league basketball officials that following the completion of championship race on Feb. 12, a tournament will be held for the 10 members of the church circuit. The outcome of the tourney will have no bearing on the city church title but is to be played merely as a means of prolonging the church league season, the regular league race closing earlier than in former seasons.

No entry fee will be charged and it has not been decided yet if the Sunday school league board will make any awards to the winning team.

Four days will be taken to run off the tourney. The first games will be on Feb. 23, the second on Feb. 26, the third on March 1 and the finals will be held on March 3. Drawings for the games will be made within a few days.

Teams outside of the Sunday school league will not be eligible for play in this tournament. It is expected however, that the Y. M. C. A. will sponsor a tournament this year as in former years, for all teams in Marion county, whether independent organizations or Sunday school representatives. Details concerning the latter tourney will probably be released within a short time by J. L. Meredith, physical director of the city Y. M. C. A.

Hack's All Set

To celebrate the signing of his $16,500 contract with the Brooklyn Robins, Hack Wilson stepped out on the frozen diamond at Ebbets Field and slugged the pill a few times for the benefit of the movie and still cameras which had gathered to record the event for posterity. Here is the mighty Hack in his new uniform as he was welcomed to the Robins family. It is reported that the Brooklyn club paid the St. Louis Cardinals $40,000 cash and a player for their new acquisition.

Outfielder Released.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4—Outfielder Jimmy Mesoff of Tacoma, Wash., has been turned over to the San Francisco Missions by the Pittsburgh Pirates. He joined the Pirates from Wichita in 1929 but has seen little service.

JOE SAVOLDI SIGNS FOR MAT BOUT HERE

Ex-Notre Dame Football Star Will "Rassle" at Shovel Gym Monday.

There are many individuals in Marion who have never witnessed any of Notre Dame's great football teams in action and a lot more who probably never will. However, there will be an opportunity accorded Monday night to see a member of a once mighty Irish grid juggernaut in action, thought not in a football suit. Joe Savoldi, Jumpin' Joe in person, the rough and tough gridman who roamed the greenswards of the United States a few years ago, will don a pair of wrestling tights and climb into the arena at the Steam Shovel gym to show Marion mat fans a few of the reasons why he is now considered one of the roughest and toughest boys on the membership roll of the Break It Off society.

Joe has done "right well" at this business of toe twisting since he took up the occupation something like a year ago. Kicked out of Notre Dame shortly before the close of the 1930 football season when it was discovered he had been secretly married, Joe was casting around looking for some way to put in his time and keep even with the family budget.

Took Up Wrestling

Wrestling offered the quickest rewards so Savoldi became a pupil of "Strangler" Lewis, a star of the padded mat. How quick he learned the intricacies of the grab and growl game has been the despair of his opponents. He engaged in his first match in January and since that time has taken part in scores. So far he has not been defeated and he has been held to but a single draw. Which isn't so bad when one considers he has been meeting some of the top notchers of his class.

Savoldi has a couple of ambitions sticking around in his cranium which he hopes to eventually fulfill. One is to become heavyweight wrestling champion of the world. That in itself isn't such an easily accomplished end. Then when that's all completed and Savoldi is acknowledged king of the mat, the Italian boy would like to chuck the mat game and start coaching football teams. He has the idea that he would be able to impart enough of the wizardy which Knute Rockne taught him to turn out some pretty tough football teams.

Except for these two things, he isn't worrying much about what he does in the future.

Meets Carl Davis

Savoldi will take on the rough and tough Carl Davis of Columbus in his Monday night go here. Davis has appeared here before and while he hasn't any Notre Dame reputation to back him up, is sufficiently tough to guarantee an evening of hard work for the former Irish grid-great.

Davis met Savoldi once before. It was in a one fall match and Savoldi won—but not until he had gone through 37 minutes of slam bang battling. He'll probably get some more from Davis this time. Davis would be rather pleased if he would blast that little winning streak which Jumpin' Joe is holding.

Tickets for the Savoldi-Davis match have been placed on sale.

ZECKHAUSER WINS OHIO STATE CROWN

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Melvin Zeckhauser of Columbus regained his campus heavyweight championship by defeating John Hoskins of Fort Thomas, Ky., in the main bout of Ohio State university's annual "fite nite" program last night.

Zeckhauser, who lost the title last year after holding it in 1929 and 1930, defeated Hoskins in the fourth round after they drew in the first three for which the bout was scheduled.

Champions in six other weights also were crowned, all in three round bouts.

THREE MEN BATTLE FOR TOURNEY TITLE

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—The race for the world's three-cushion billiard championship was a three-man struggle today with Otto Reisel of Philadelphia in front with seven victories and one defeat.

Reisel's closest rival was Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, with six victories and two defeats. Close behind him, still a mathematical contender was Arthur Thurnbladh of Chicago, defending champion with three defeats recorded against him in eight starts.

GASSERS WIN FROM PHALANX QUINTET

The Phalanx fraternity basketball team was beaten last night on the Y. M. C. A. court by the Gas company quintet. The score was 30-22. Neimeyer led the scoring attack of the Gas company with five baskets and two fouls for 12 points. Ebert was high point man for the losers.

It'll Be Youth vs. Age as Junior High Teams Collide with Faculty

Faculty rah! Faculty rah! Rah, rah, faculty!

For the first time in the history of Marion basketball, the male faculty of the three junior high schools will combine to form a team for a series of three games with the school varsity teams, the first to be played Friday night in The Star auditorium.

A faculty-varsity basketball game is an unusual affair at Central Junior High school, and the spirit and fun shown at these games have led to the organization of a faculty team to play the varsity fives of Central, Vernon and Thomas A. Edison Junior High schools.

The first game will be with the Central team, following a preliminary game between Central and Vernon at 7:30 p. m. Members of the faculty team have had several practice games, and yesterday expressed confidence of winning Friday night's game.

They Can't Do That

The student teams have only one thing to fear, and that is the prerogative of the faculty to issue orders. If the faculty sees defeat looming ahead, they may step in and order that the second-string team be put in to finish the game.

The Parent-Teacher associations of the three schools are back of the series of games and have promised to attend the series in a body, rooting lustily for the "dear old faculty."

The probable starting line-up for the faculty team Friday night is T. R. Evans, center, Cecil Gabler and Alwyn Crane, forwards and Donald Lee and O. C. Ice, guards. Hamer Mitchell, A. T. Allen, Arthus Koenig and W. E. Orcutt will form the shock troops.

Another angle that will add merriment to the series will be the faculty cheer-leaders.

Harry L. Albrecht, representing the Central P.-T. A. and Martin Verburg from the Thomas A. Edison P.-T. A. have been unanimously chosen by their group to lead the cheers—in costume. The Vernon cheerleader has not been chosen.

Get Hot, Ice!

All of the faculty members have had some experience in basketball, some not since high school days, and the others on college teams. Rumor has it that Evans and Ice will be high score men for the faculty, having shown particular agility in the practice games.

The faculty will appear Friday night in the Edison school suits. Their uniforms will change with each game, and will be rather make-shift apparel as the varsity team boys of Central and Vernon aren't as large as those of the Edison team.

Games have been scheduled for Feb. 12 with the Vernon team at Vernon and on Feb. 19 with Edison at Edison.

The Central line-up for the first game will be Castner and Danner, forwards, Goerlich and Weller, guards and Crow or Bechtle, center.

Presidents Working Hard To Regain Early Season Form

BOHYERMEN NOT UP TO USUAL STANDARD IN PRACTICE DRILLS

However, "Our Boys" Are Confident of "Taking" Bucyrus Second Time.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

About every so often coaches of athletic teams 'deem it quite the proper thing to issue some kind of a bear story concerning the prospects of victory for dear old Podunk over the brilliant band of warriors from Punkin Center. In most cases the story doesn't mean anything. In fact, about nine tenths of the time it is merely one large gob of hooey—or something.

However, once in awhile there is a reason for the bear story and the practice session of the Harding basketball team yesterday provides the material for this one.

Harding meets Bucyrus Friday night to launch the second half of competition in the N. C. O. league. The Presidents defeated the Bucktown boys by a 10 point margin in the first game of the league season back on New Year's night of 1932. That might give some persons reasons to believe that the Bucyrus boys will be just another push-over for the Men of Bohyer when the two teams meet to settle the issue Friday.

Wrong Again

Wrong again, Horatio! This Bucyrus team is no push-over for any one and no one realizes it better than the members of the Harding basketball team. However, try as they will, so far this week the Presidents have not shown the form necessary to turn back the Redmen. It isn't because they haven't tried. They simply haven't been able to "click."

So there's the bear story. Harding has to meet a tough team Friday and the Presidents haven't looked good in practice. How soon they will reverse form and look once again like a classy court aggregation is another story. No one is more confident of the ability to be "on" against Bucyrus than the Harding boys. Perhaps they will regain their stride as suddenly as they have lost it since the Mansfield encounter.

As yet it's nothing to get all "het" up about. Harding looked

TITLE CONTENDERS TO COLLIDE FRIDAY

Week's Conflicts To Have Much Bearing on County Court Championships.

With the two girls' championships already in the bag, the boys' basketball teams of the Marion county scholastic circuit will see what can be done Friday night about deciding which two teams will wear the crowns which are annually awarded the best teams in the East and West divisions of the rural loop. There is no assurance that either of the boys' titles will be decided this week. In fact, it seems quite possible that neither will be decided until the final game of the season on Feb. 12 and there is a chance, not such a long shot either, that both races will end the season in a two-way deadlock.

Morral girls in the West division and Claridon girls in the East are the 1932 champions of the fairer sex in the county. This is the second consecutive undisputed championship for Claridon. Morral shared in a three-way tie for the title last season with Pleasant and Prospect.

The boys' championship of the East division is a toss-up between Waldo and Caledonia. In the West half, Morral, champions last year, and Meeker are fighting it out for the top post.

Contenders Clash

Morral and Meeker and Waldo and Caledonia will clash Friday night in a pair of games at Caledonia and Morral. If Morral turns back the Meeker challenge it will have cinched the crown for the second consecutive season. When the two teams met earlier in the season Morral was the winner by a 19-16 margin, gained only after a hard-fought conflict. Meeker is supremely confident of being able to reverse the decision this meeting. If Meeker wins, the race will in all probability finish in a deadlock as neither Green Camp nor LaRue appears sufficiently strong to beat the leaders in the last game of the race on Feb. 12.

When the winner of the Caledonia-Waldo clash is decided the team on top will have a full game lead with but one more game to go but even then there will be no assurance that the championship is won. If Caledonia disposes of Waldo, the Burger-coached team will have to meet Kirkpatrick the following week and defeating the boys under the direction of Frank Furniss is no task to be relished by any team in the Marion county league.

On the other hand, if Waldo wins, the Copeland-directed quintet will have yet to hurdle the Claridon obstacle, another assignment of some consequence. Claridon has had only fair success this season but is strong enough that it can not be reckoned as a certain loser in any game.

Complete Schedule

The complete schedule in the East half calls for Waldo to invade Caledonia; Martel to pay a visit to Claridon, and Pleasant to entertain Kirkpatrick. In the West half the schedule lists LaRue at Agosta, Meeker at Morral and Green Camp at Prospect. The schedule calls for a boys' and girls' game at all places except Morral. Meeker does not have a girls' team so Morral will take on the Marion Business college girls in a non-league encounter. The Business college girls handed Morral its only loss of the season to date recently and Morral is planning to "shoot the works" in an effort to even the score this week.

POST SEASON COURT TOURNEY ARRANGED FOR CHURCH CIRCUIT

City Sunday School Teams To Engage in Post Season Games.

Announcement has been made by the Sunday school league basketball officials that following the completion of championship race on Feb. 19, a tournament will be held for the 10 members of the church circuit. The outcome of the tourney will have no bearing on the city church title but is to be played merely as a means of prolonging the church league season, the regular league race closing earlier than in former seasons.

No entry fee will be charged and it has not been decided yet if the Sunday school league board will make any awards to the winning team.

Four days will be taken to run off the tourney. The first games will be on Feb. 23, the second on Feb. 26, the third on March 1 and the finals will be held on March 3. Drawings for the games will be made within a few days.

Teams outside of the Sunday school league will not be eligible for play in this tournament. It is expected however, that the Y. M. C. A. will sponsor a tournament this year as in former years, for all teams in Marion county, whether independent organizations or Sunday school representatives. Details concerning the latter tourney will probably be released within a short time by J. L. Meredith, physical director of the city Y. M. C. A.

Hack's All Set

To celebrate the signing of his $16,500 contract with the Brooklyn Robins, Hack Wilson stepped out on the frozen diamond at Ebbets Field and slugged the pill a few times for the benefit of the movie and still cameras which had gathered to record the event for posterity. Here is the mighty Hack in his new uniform as he was welcomed to the Robins family. It is reported that the Brooklyn club paid the St. Louis Cardinals $40,000 cash and a player for their new acquisition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4—Outfielder Jimmy Mesolf of Tacoma, Wash., has been turned over to the San Francisco Missions by the Pittsburgh Pirates. He joined the Pirates from Wichita in 1929 but has seen little service.

JOE SAVOLDI SIGNS FOR MAT BOUT HERE

Ex-Notre Dame Football Star Will "Rassle" at Shovel Gym Monday.

There are many individuals in Marion who have never witnessed any of Notre Dame's great football teams in action and a lot more who probably never will. However, there will be an opportunity accorded Monday night to see a member of a once mighty Irish grid juggernaut in action, thought not in a football suit. Joe Savoldi, Jumpin' Joe in person, the rough and tough gridman who roamed the greenswards of the United States a few years ago, will don a pair of wrestling tights and climb into the arena at the Steam Shovel gym to show Marion mat fans a few of the reasons why he is now considered one of the roughest and toughest boys on the membership roll of the Break It Off society.

Joe has done "right well" at this business of toe twisting since he took up the occupation something like a year ago. Kicked out of Notre Dame shortly before the close of the 1930 football season when it was discovered he had been secretly married, Joe was casting around looking for some way to put in his time and keep even with the family budget.

Took Up Wrestling

Wrestling offered the quickest rewards so Savoldi became a pupil of "Strangler" Lewis, a star of the padded mat. How quick he learned the intricacies of the grab and growl game has been the despair of his opponents. He engaged in his first match in January and since that time has taken part in scores. So far he has not been defeated and he has been held to but a single draw. Which isn't so bad when one considers he has been meeting some of the top notchers of his class.

Savoldi has a couple of ambitions sticking around in his cranium which he hopes to eventually fulfill. One is to become heavyweight wrestling champion of the world. That in itself isn't such an easily accomplished end. Then when that's all completed and Savoldi is acknowledged king of the mat, the Italian boy would like to chuck the mat game and start coaching football teams. He has the idea that he would be able to impart enough of the wizardy which Knute Rockne taught him to turn out some pretty tough football teams.

Except for these two things, he isn't worrying much about what he does in the future.

Meets Carl Davis

Savoldi will take on the rough and tough Carl Davis of Columbus in his Monday night go here. Davis has appeared here before and while he hasn't any Notre Dame reputation to back him up, is sufficiently tough to guarantee an evening of hard work for the former Irish grid-great.

Davis met Savoldi once before. It was in a one fall match and Savoldi won—but not until he had gone through 37 minutes of slam bang battling. He'll probably get some more from Davis this time. Davis would be rather pleased if he would blast that little winning streak which Jumpin' Joe is holding.

Tickets for the Savoldi-Davis match have been placed on sale.

GASSERS WIN FROM PHALANX QUINTET

The Phalanx fraternity basketball team was beaten last night on the Y. M. C. A. court by the Gas company quintet. The score was 30-22. Neimeyer led the scoring attack of the Gas company with five baskets and two fouls for 12 points. Ebert was high point man for the losers.

ZECKHAUSER WINS OHIO STATE CROWN

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4—Major Zeckhauser of Columbus regained his campus heavyweight championship by defeating John Hoskins of Fort Thomas, Ky., in the main bout of Ohio State university's annual "fite nite" program last night.

Zeckhauser, who lost the title last year after holding it in 1929 and 1930, defeated Hoskins in the fourth round after they drew in the first three for which the bout was scheduled.

Champions in six other weights also were crowned, all in three round bouts.

THREE MEN BATTLE FOR TOURNEY TITLE

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—The race for the world's three-cushion billiard championship was a three-man struggle today with Otto Reisel of Philadelphia in front with seven victories and one defeat.

Reisel's closest rival was Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, with six victories and two defeats. Close behind him, still a mathematical contender was Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, defending champion with three defeats recorded against him in eight starts.

you want to sell your barber shop, there is no way you can let as many prospects know about it, as through the ads below. Tell the location and about traffic, how many chairs, if the sale is CASH or Terms. Small down payment often does the JOB. WELL TOLD IS HALF SOLD. When ad writing, tell the other fellow exactly what you would like to know if you were buying the place. Underrate rather than overstate, and he'll be surprised rather than disappointed.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Prices Fluctuate in Narrow Range as Trading Is Dull.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—The securities markets fluctuated narrowly in the dullest trading in recent years today, as traders hopefully awaited signs of a seasonal pickup in activity.

Uncertainties surrounding the far eastern situation were still regarded as a brake on the markets, while Wall street was chiefly interested in the domestic situation, which has not been inclined to be alarmed over "war" gossip. On the whole, most of the leaders were close to yesterday's closing but trading was so slow that there were long halts in the movement of the ticker tape. The market seemed to display a fairly firm undertone during the morning, but weakened after midday, when U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Case, International Harvester, Union Pacific and Santa Fe lost about a point, and several leaders sagged fractionally. Some issues held up a point or so, including the New York Traction, Real Folk Hosiery, J. C. Penney, Safeway and a few others. General motors was about steady, despite the dividend reduction.

Inasmuch as downward readjustments of dividends usually are most pronounced at the fat end of a depression, and often continue after the turn of the trend, Wall Street is taking dividend cuts philosophically. National Dairy ordered the regular quarterly payment of 65 cents, as expected. Important dividend meetings in the office are Union Pacific, on the 11th, the Dupont on the 15th.

Atlas Powder's slashing its dividend rate to $2 from $4 scarcely indicated that the management placed any credence in talk of a "war boom." Homestake Mining's ordering of a $1 extra was another indication of how gold mining thrives on depression.

FOREIGN GAINS BOOST WHEAT

Unexpected Upturns at Liverpool Has Bullish Effect at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—Influenced by unexpected upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations, grain prices here averaged higher early today. Prospects of better export demand for North American wheat counted also as a bearish factor, together with likelihood that unprotected domestic winter wheat had suffered damage by cold. Opening at ⅛@¾ advance, wheat afterward reacted somewhat. Corn started unchanged to ¼ up and subsequently held near the initial limits.

What price setbacks that followed early upturns were ascribed to selling on reports that Japanese forces had evacuated places adjacent to American and British positions at Shanghai. Easiness of the New York stock market at this stage tended likewise to act as a weight on wheat values. There were reports too, indicating that Ohio and Kentucky wheat fields had virtually escaped injury by low temperatures.

A leading crop expert telegraphing from Louisville said that between Springfield, O., and Cincinnati, he saw but two fields in which the wheat plant had jointed. These fields were in high places and showed but little frost damage. From Cincinnati to Louisville, there was no apparent damage. Sioux Falls, S. D., reported an official temperature today of eight below zero.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat.

Provisions were former, responsive to hog market upturns.

BOHYERMEN NOT UP TO USUAL STANDARD

However, "Our Boys" Are Confident of "Taking" Bucyrus Second Time.

bad in practice before several of their early season victories. Take Ashland for instance. The Presidents failed to display anything in practice sessions before that game and the Hilltoppers took a first class beating.

Vestal Has Cold

All of the members of the Harding first string squad are in condition for a hard battle Friday with the possible exception of Fred Vestal. Vestal is suffering from a heavy cold but hopes to be ready to go against Bucyrus. John Guthrie of the reserves is out with a cold and will not play this week but his absence will not affect the varsity lineup.

Billie Hero, diminutive forward is back in shape apparently little the worse for the wear, after being out for some time with a bad charley horse.

The Harding "mystery"— the starting lineup—is again very much present this week. With today the final day for practice, there is no certainty as to what combination will take the floor against the Redmen. Bohyer is using several different teams and it is likely that the starting five will not be made known until very shortly before game time.

Thus endeth a bear story. Maybe by tomorrow the bulls will have taken possession of the market. Today's practice session will decide that. But bull or bear story, Harding will be in the game with Bucyrus Friday night. Make no mistake about that.

DRUMM VICTOR IN BILLIARDS MATCH

Blanchard "Doggie" Drumm chalked up another victory last night in the Ohio Pocket Billiards league by defeating Williams of Ashley 125 to 46. Drumm turned in a high run of 25 against a high of 11 for the loser.

Drumm will go to Columbus for his next game Friday night against Pierce, former state champion. The next home game for Drumm will be against Ike Chase, former Marion man, playing under a Columbus banner. Chase will come here on Feb. 13.

C. OF C. CONSIDERS CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

Move To Sponsor Drive Referred to Civic Committee.

A proposal that the chamber of commerce sponsor a cleanup campaign in Marion next spring was referred to the civic committee, headed by Asa Queen, by directors in a luncheon meeting in Hotel Marion yesterday.

The campaign not only would promote civic pride and better the appearance of the city but also would furnish work for a number of men if the campaign could be extended to include remodeling work and repairing, it was pointed out.

Plans for activity of the membership and finance committee, headed by R. F. Fletcher, were also discussed.

"LUCKIES are my standby"

CHIP OFF THE OLD BLOCK

Cash in on Poppa's famous name? Not Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.! For months he labored as a five-dollar-a-day "extra." Then he crashed into a part like a brick through a plate-glass window. Doug boxes like a pro, and we don't mean a palooka . . . he has muscles like a wrestler. When undressing, he hangs his clothes on the chandelier. The box offices like his latest FIRST NATIONAL PICTURE, "UNION DEPOT." Doug has stuck to LUCKIES four years, but didn't stick the makers of LUCKIES anything for his kind words. "You're a brick, Doug."

"LUCKIES are my standby. I buy them exclusively. I've tried practically all brands but LUCKY STRIKES are kind to my throat. And that new improved Cellophane wrapper that opens with a flip of the finger is a ten strike."

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.
